

FOOTBALL TEAMS ARRIVE TO-DAY

To-morrow's Game the General Topic of Conversation.

VIRGINIA THE FAVORITE.

Many Say the Varsity Will Have No Walk-Over—The Jefferson Will Become Head-Quarters.

To-morrow's game between the University of Virginia and Sewanee has become the topic of discussion in the hotel lobbies and clubs of the city. Last night there was a general gathering of the football enthusiasts at the Jefferson, when much gossip concerning both elevens was heard. Virginia is the favorite, and on account of the strong belief that she will win. There has, so far, been little betting on the result. The Virginia team has engaged quarters at the Jefferson, and will arrive over the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad from Charlottesville this afternoon. The team from Tennessee will more than likely stop at the Jefferson also, though they have not yet engaged quarters. The team left Chattanooga yesterday over the Southern and will arrive here to-night. They will come by way of Asheville, through western North Carolina, the "Land of the Sky." The Virginia eleven will be accompanied by a hundred or more of the students and the Stonewall Band, of Staunton. They will own the town upon their arrival, taking possession as they have in former years. There will also be quite a number of "rooters" with the Sewanee team.

It is thought Virginia will have no walk-over by many, as the Sewanee has shown marked improvement within the last week. They are evenly matched in weight.

The Team at Virginia Lined Up Against the "Scrubs."

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA, VA., Nov. 27.—Football practice was resumed today and a determination yesterday afternoon. Since the game on Saturday with North Carolina the Orange and Blue team seems to have gained more confidence in itself, and the general feeling among the players is that Virginia will win from the Tennesseeans Thursday. Every member of the Varsity team who took part in the Carolina game was in the line-up except H. K. H. right guard, who has an injured hip. His position was taken by "Buck" H. H. After a half-hour's signal practice the coaches, to the astonishment of all, lined up the Varsity against the scrub eleven for a fifteen-minute half. The men, although stiff and sore from Saturday's game, played with a snap and dash which they showed against the "Tarnish." The whole team showed an improvement in forming interference quickly and compactly, every man on the eleven getting into the play. Special attention was paid to the defensive end interference and to working out some new plays which will be sprung on the Sewanee players Thursday.

Coaches Hoxton and Cocke will make no changes in the line-up against the Tennesseeans. The eleven, however, were given a trial in the back field yesterday—Church, of the District of Columbia, and Johnson, of Nebraska. Both are excellent players. The back field yesterday was made up of the following: Church, Johnson, Coleman, and Coleman. The back field yesterday was made up of the following: Church, Johnson, Coleman, and Coleman. The back field yesterday was made up of the following: Church, Johnson, Coleman, and Coleman.

The rooters are preparing themselves for Thursday, and will swoon down upon Richmond with yells and new college songs. The Thanksgiving Day Song-Book made its appearance this afternoon. It contains a number of good selections. The prize was secured by Mr. Wythe L. Kinsolving.

STRONG PLAYERS ON MANY TEAMS

The Present Football Season Has Developed Stars.

TUCKER AND WISE STRONG ENDS

The Hampden-Sidney Team—Pincky Youngster at Woodberry Forest—Old Players at V. P. I.

The present football season, aside from being distinguished for developing evenly-matched teams among the more prominent schools and colleges in the State, has also brought to the front a number of strong players on the many teams, who will no doubt make names for themselves in Virginia athletics through the coming seasons.

These men are found quite evenly distributed among the teams, so that there is scarce a team which has not developed stars or players who will rank for above the average with a year or so more training and experience with the game. Men and boys at the colleges and preparatory schools in Virginia usually look forward to attending the University, and it is from these sources the splendid teams put on the gridiron by the "Varsity" each season come. They learn the game and in many instances learn it well before applying for the "Varsity," so that they are in good trim to take on the more systematic training and development, mapped out by the University coach, by having played the game under good coaching at their respective colleges or training schools.

PLAY THE VARSITY.

For the above reason, it seems that it would be wise for the University to play as many of the State teams during the season as her schedule would allow. I know it to be a fact that in one game with a good strong team playing clean ball, as Virginia usually does, the inexperienced senior team will learn more football than in a month's practice. It proves a practical demonstration of the facts and theories the coach has been telling them of for months not soon to be forgotten, and by the marked improvement which may be noted in the next game played by the team, the coach is proven. A game with the University is quite frequently the making of the preparatory school team.

But now to come to the players which the season has developed.

The Hampden-Sidney College this season has shown great improvement, and by many it is thought to be the best eleven ever put in the field by this institution.

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY.

This college has always taken good interest in athletics, and ever invariably a gentlemanly set of fellows on the gridiron or diamond, and this season have a football team which will compare favorably with any team in the State.

Osborn and Glavin, who play tackle, have shown strong aggressive men, and have done much toward making the team's record. Both have played well before this season, but their game has improved, so that they have made themselves conspicuous.

McCorkle, full back, and Kemper, left half and captain, have also distinguished themselves. McCorkle kicks well and has made this a feature of the games his team has played.

V. P. I. TEAM.

The V. P. I. team is one of the three strongest elevens in Virginia, and on account of the splendid team work with which their games this season have been characterized it is difficult to pick out any one man and say he surpasses the rest.

Tucker and Wise, ends on the team, have played fast ball throughout, and by their work in getting down the field on punts and their sure and fierce tackling they are classed as about the best in the State.

Roller, quarter-back and captain, is clean and quick, and at all times shows good judgment.

Another of the big teams of the State is that of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg. This aggregation, which it has for the last few years, has played a strong aggressive game and, having weight, training and experience, the team has shown unusual strength. The greater number of the players this year have been one or more years on the team. Carpenter, full back, and Hubbard, left half, have been prominent in State athletics for three seasons. Hardaway, at right half, and DeCamp, quarter, complete the V. P. I. back field and make four grand gainers hard to check.

SCHOOL TEAM.

A preparatory school team most worthy of mention is that sent out by Woodberry Forest. This little team gave a splendid exhibition of snappy football here, and was defeated by Richmond College 6 to 0.

Little Stripling, who played left end, weighing only 118 pounds, showed remarkable quickness and nerve.

Evans, Haddock, who played right half, and will no doubt make records for themselves in college athletics.

Sleeplessness Due to Mental Strain.

Sleeplessness is generally due not to physical strain, but to mental overwork and worry.

The best cure for insomnia is exercise in the open air. When you find that you can't sleep, get up, dress and go for a long walk. It will be much better than to lie in bed and keep tossing about.

When you get back from your tramp the bed will feel good and sleep will come quickly to the tired body and brain.

Do not eat an hour before you go to bed. Expand your chest, stretch your legs, breathe steadily and get your blood purified by the exercise of your whole body.

And don't think about the things that have worried you during the day. Try to give your mind some new food.

If possible take another brisk trot before breakfast. Rise early and get the fresh morning air. Be careful that in walking upgrade you do not expand the chest and hold the breath. This causes the heart by giving an increased pressure of blood for it to beat against. This will in the end excite the heart and cause it to beat rapidly and irregularly for hours afterward, and the sleep that follows will be troubled.

Sleep that comes as the result of exhaustion, provided that exhaustion comes from a long walk in the open air, will always be sweet. Soon there will be no more nightmares or bad dreams. Walk fast and walk until you are so tired you cannot sleep any more and go to sleep.

Rocky Mountain Sapphire.

In stones the sapphire is the most fashionable. Its popularity started in Paris, crossed to New York and has now reached London. It used to be supposed that a perfect sapphire must be of a dark, rich blue tint. Now the discovery of a new sapphire mine in the Rocky Mountains, where stones were found varying in their shades of color from a light steel blue to the deep blue tint, and again from a bluish tincture to a ruby red, has changed all that. These new sapphires have become the rage. They touched the whole color scale of blue, red and purple. By artificial light these sapphires shine resplendent.
